

Understanding Imperative Sentences

Learn how to give commands and instructions using clear examples and explanations.

WHAT IS IT?

Definition of imperative sentences

An imperative sentence gives a command, makes a request, or offers advice. It often starts with a verb, like "Go" or "Please sit."

For a process essay, an imperative sentence is a sentence that gives an explicit instruction or step that the reader should follow. Example: Mix the flour and sugar in a large bowl."

WHY USE THEM?

Importance of imperative sentences

Imperative sentences are essential for clear communication. They help in giving instructions, making requests, and guiding actions effectively.

EXAMPLES

Common imperative examples

Examples include "Close the door" and "Please finish your homework." These show how to use imperative sentences in daily situations.

PRACTICE MAKING THEM

Creating your own sentences

Try writing your own imperative sentences! Start with simple actions, like "Turn off the lights" or "Wash your hands."

REVIEW YOUR SENTENCES

Check for clarity and tone

Make sure your imperative sentences are polite and clear. Adjust as needed to ensure they communicate effectively and respectfully.